

Lunenburg Historical Commission April 2026

The Lunenburg Historical commission met April 7th at the Ritter building. The meeting began at 7:02 PM. Members McGrath, Lakso and Boussom were in attendance.

An update from the building inspector regarding 763 MA Ave reports that the building is under construction to be converted to a duplex. This will be followed by two additional townhouses being built on the front lot.

Todd Holman of the DPW reported that no response has been received from the owner of the Arnold Litch property. They do have plans to begin digging for the wall at the Goodrich cemetery starting next week.

Two items of question on the Town Survey included 389 Sunnyhill road, which was highlighted as 370. The town bandstand was also reported as being built in 1905, however the current bandstand is not the original, and was most likely built much later on.

Chairman McGrath donated time and materials towards the repair of the Leominster Road stone directional marker. The lettering was repainted, brush was cleared, and new crushed gravel was laid around the marker.

A final list of important historic sites to be marked includes the Dickinson House, the Houston House, the Buttonwood tree, and the site of the mill at the end of Holman street on the Mulpus river.

With no further business, the meeting adjourned at 7:22 PM
